

Male Veterans Research participants wanted!

DO YOU KNOW A MALE VETERAN. PLEASE PASS THIS ON

Researchers at the Department of Veterans Affairs and Boston University School of Medicine are conducting a study that will look at the link between mood symptoms and prostate cancer screening among United States male veterans.

What is involved?

If you decide to take part, you will be asked to fill out an anonymous online questionnaire about:

- Your personal knowledge of prostate cancer
- Your history of prostate cancer screening
- The degree to which you feel at risk of getting prostate cancer
- Pros and cons of prostate cancer screening
- Your current emotions
- Your degree of trust in your doctors

In the study, you will not be asked to give any information that would identify you. Your participation is entirely anonymous. We will not contact you after you have completed the survey. You will not be asked to buy anything or to sign up for any membership. You are only being asked to complete the on-line survey and nothing else.

Who may participate?

- Male veterans over the age of 40
- No personal history of prostate cancer
- Must have access to a computer and the internet

Indicate your interest in participating in this program by following the instructions at this site. <https://www.psychdata.com/s.asp?SID=131118>
